SAFE MINISTRY - LOVING EACH OTHER WELL

Dear St Andrew's,

Last Friday night Kids' & Youth Ministry was launched for the year with delicious food, an inspiring Bible talk and uplifting community time. Mel told me it was a great evening with a vibe of joy and enthusiasm. No surprises there, perhaps. But what did surprise—and please—me was how engaged everyone was when the conversation turned to Safe Ministry: parents, leaders, and even the kids and youth themselves. That matters, because “safe” isn’t something we do to others; it’s something we build with one another—especially by listening to those who are most vulnerable and empowering them to shape what safety looks like in our church community.

Safe Ministry is the umbrella phrase for the policies, procedures, and training that help us do ministry wisely and well: child protection, safeguarding, and the general principles of caring for anyone who is vulnerable (including vulnerable adults). In other words, it’s the plain, practical commitment to ensure that church is a place of genuine welcome, trust, clarity, and protection.

And here’s the key point: Safe Ministry is everyone’s responsibility. Not just staff. Not just kids and youth leaders. Not just the “official” people. All of us. One simple way the New Testament describes the Christian life is “love one another.” Safe Ministry is one of the most tangible ways we do that. It’s love expressed as wisdom, boundaries, accountability, and care.

One theme that came through strongly on Friday was the importance of transparency—clear spaces, clear communication, and clear behaviour. Transparency is one of the greatest protective factors against harm, and it also creates confidence for families and leaders alike.

All involved in kids and youth ministry are required to complete Safe Ministry training, and from the beginning of 2026, this requirement has been extended to Parish Councillors. But I’d love to encourage everyone at St Andrew’s to do the training too—especially if you serve in any way, or if you’re considering serving this year.

You can access the training here: <https://safeministry.training/>

If you have questions—or if anything about church life has ever felt unsafe, unclear, or concerning—please come and talk to me, Meg Webster (our Safe Ministry Rep), or any member of our staff team. We’d much rather have an early conversation than a late regret.

I’m so grateful for the way our church is taking this seriously and pray that we’ll keep growing as a community that is both warm and wise.

God bless,

James

Wardens and parish councillors have been encouraged (since 2022) and are now required (from 31 December 2025) to have completed the Safe Ministry Training.

The 'Recycling Station' is now placed under the awning in front of Amelia Ross' office at 1 Bancroft Ave. Please feel free to drop off items at any time.

Items collected for recycling are: household batteries, mobile phones, printer toner and ink cartridges, plastic bread-tags, spectacles that are no longer needed but in good condition, single use toiletry items which are given to Wayside, postage stamps and stamp collections are donated to the Church Missionary Society (CMS), and second hand books, in reasonably good condition, are given to Lifeline.
